“ I am so saddened to receive word of Janay's passing. She was always one of the most poised, together ladies that I know. Enjoyed working with her at Guide and attending school with her. She will be missed.

“ I was always a little envious of Janay. She always seemed so "put together." She always looked great and seemed to have such confidence. Loved her smile! I last saw her several years ago when we shared an Irish coffee or two. I didn't know she had been ill. She was a fun person. I know her family will miss her. Condolences to her family.

“ Janay and I were best friends in high school. We met in band and marched together and had classes together and had such fun. She played trumpet, and I played flute and piccolo. For the band's Plaid and White Review (1965-ish), we and two of our friends did a skit on the Beatles. She was John and I was Paul. We could mimic their body language and facial expressions, so the audience loved it. We had the long thick bangs, the black pants and boots, the jackets and guitars. We sang 'She Loves You' and 'Twist and Shout'. When the band went on a tour of Canada the following summer, playing at their high schools, that Beatles skit always brought down the house.

Janay and I lost touch with each other after graduation, but I always believed that if we ever got back together, it would feel like we hadn't missed a beat.

Thanks, "John," for all the fun times.
Your "Paul,"

“ I just heard from my son, Lewis Michael, regarding Janay. I last saw her about 3 or 4 years ago at our family annual picnic. I was so glad to see her and talk about our old times when we were younger. She and I had one mutual "attraction" no one else in the family had, and we always made sure we shared this. It was a birth mark the size of a dime, light brown, and on the upper left arm in the same area. Janay would always say if we got lost we could always find each other, niece and aunt. She is at peace now.

With much love, Aunt Lena

“ To my beautiful Mommy,

I know you wrote your own obituary and made all the plans yourself for the time when you would pass on to Heaven. That is just what you did, take care of business. I also know that you did all of this in the "Dark Time" when we were all mad at each other. I thank God every day that we reconciled our differences. So I just want to take the time to mention others that loved you dearly.

Your two daughters, Lora Stoner-Tanner (Dan) & Tracy Morgan. Your four grandchildren, Derek Huffman, Ashlee Huffman, Kaylen Morgan & Kyler Morgan.

And especially your great granddaughter, Harlee Marie. I know you would light up when I would bring her with me to visit.

I also want to thank you for raising us to be the people we are today. With your strength and guidance, we are strong and independent women that also take care of business. You helped me raise my kids when I was a single parent, and helped out in so many ways that I don't think I could ever name everything. Without you, I wouldn't have been able to do half the things I was able to do.

You don't know how much you will be missed, my heart and spirit are just broken. I love you so much and until I get to see you again, take a ride on the back of Bob's bike and enjoy being whole again.

Burning Daylight!!
