“ Adam, my heart is broken. : I wish I could've said goodbye. I wanted only the best for you and wish I could've done more. I miss the short visits from you throughout the day telling me about the silly little things. I have to walk by your desk several times a day or look out my door and see you not there. I keep thinking that you'll be back. That it's all just a bad dream. It's surreal. I know there are 5 stages of the grieving process; but I can't get past the first one. We grew to be, not just co-workers and teammates, but we also became friends along the way. I wish you hadn't left us so soon. You will always hold a special place in my heart. Missing you...D
