Our mom is gone. The cold hands of death struck at 5:57pm on Aug 12th and left you cold. You did fight gallantly mommy the fight of your life, but we do not always win. Several memories of you crowd my mind. Memories of your first visit to America and our anticipation of your return, with all the gifts a child could ever want. Memories of trips to the beach where you would swim all the way out like you owned the ocean...Find memories of you in Ct when we would plan to go shopping the night before, but you being an early riser, would wake up, get dressed, call out to me downstairs saying you were leaving now. Memories of me running out the house with my shoes in hand because I didn't want you to leave me.. I remember each time I'd get to the car you would drive away and I had to run behind the car to catch you. These are special memories mommy. I can't forget my most recent memory with you in Dec. When you sounded as if you stopped breathing and I turned my flashlight on from my phone to look at you to make sure you're ok... You scared the daylights out of me when you started laughing and asked me why am I watching you and not sleeping. We had a good laugh that early morning. I could go on and on but time will not permit me to do so. All these memories of you will be immortalized in my heart forever, but we do know that you are already immortalized in the mind of God who sees through the annals of eternity, the cascading consequences of your life and will call you forth in the first resurrection. Rest in peace mommy and death wipe that smile from off your face. You have not won! Weeping May endure for a night but joy comes in the morning. I'll be comforted by the memories of you mommy. Death is not your final home. Your work on earth has just ended. Love you endlessly mommy

“ I met Alice through having my rummage sales & shared some time with her when she came. She was such a jovial person with a beautiful smile & a wonderful personality! I just learned of her passing and she was such an inspiration to me and always made me feel so good talking to her. God has a very special place for her among the angels. Rest In Peace dear Alice:)

“ Finding relief in knowing I will see you again someday soon Remembering all you taught me as my soul I continue to groom
I will walk in footsteps you have walked before me Seeing the path you walked lead you, Mommy, straight into victory.
I wish for nothing more Than just one more day,
For I would give it all,
Just to hear her say.
It's funny how
In life it seems
You take for granted
The most important things. Although you're gone, I'm not alone, And never shall I be,
For the precious memories of the bond we shared
Will never depart from me It hurts, Every time the thought passes through my brain.
Every time I look at that picture I wait to hear you laugh at something so small You were always a great person a great person indeed You were always there whenever I was in need You raised me up in a big, safe world I'm glad I had the chance to be your little girl You always had a smile on your beautiful, warm face God did the right thing by taking you to a good place Even though I miss you and we grow farther apart I will always have a place for you right here in my heart love you

Mommy, God saw you getting tired when a cure was not to be. So he wrapped his arms around you , and whispered come to me. You didn't deserve what you went through, so he gave you rest. God's garden must be beautiful, he only takes the best. When I saw you sleeping so peaceful and free from pain, I couldn't wish you back to suffer that again. Love you forever mommy. Sleep In Peace until that great getting up morning....
