“ My sister Brenda summed up well our feelings for Aunt Alice. My brother Alan emailed me from Wisconsin and said he was sorry to see that his "favorite aunt" had died. I told him she was everyone's favorite Aunt. All I can really say is "Gads Alice, we'll miss you."

“ I'm so sad to hear of Aunt Alice Rae's passing. I have so many fond memories of her and her sister Edie, my mother, sitting around the kitchen table drinking endless cups of coffee, laughing and laughing. Alice Rae had a wonderful laugh and I loved it when she'd call me "child..." A day when Alice Rae came to visit was always like a party. And heading up to Anderson was even more exciting. No matter when we showed up, Alice Rae would have a full meal prepared. My Mom would tell her not to bother, but she never listened. I will never forget once when I was home from I.U., and my mother and I drove up to see her, arriving around 9:30 a.m. There was Alice Rae with dishes of her famous, incomparable chicken and noodles, homemade biscuits, greenbeans, fresh corn, two kinds of homemade pie, and lord knows what else waiting for us, serving us lunch at that hour. Of course we couldn't turn her down, or the plentiful leftovers she always insisted we take home. While I have seen too little of her since we moved out to Boston, she will always live on in the wonderful memories I have of her. My condolences to Joed, Susie, Karyn, JudyLynn, their families, her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She was a wonderful woman. With sympathy, Brenda, Richard, Laura and Liana
