“ I could go on forever about some of our memories, but instead I simply want to say I love you Ashley. I will miss you so much. We weren't together everyday but when we were we made it count, and extra special, or we just got into trouble:) You and bobbie were right by me through my most important moments, like delivering isaiah at birth. Or when me, you terry, and bray bray watched Halloween movies all night together cause I was heart broken over a guy. I could go on forever but instead I just want you to know I'm sorry I wasn't there, and I love you so very much! Until were together again and I hear say "what up cuz" you will be deeply missed.
Forever&Always in my heart!

“ I remember when we were very little and my mom was babysitting Ashley and amber. My mom took us to the movies to watch the Muppets movie. We had lots of fun. Even though we wasn't very close I still love you Ashley and you will be missed. My mom still has pictures of us when we were little playing.

“ I've only known Ashley for 5 years but she made such an impact on my life she actually became friends with my husband first rod in I didn't know what to think about her at first cuz she was so damn feisty kind of scared me at first a little bit but then once I let her into my life and got to know her she became my best friend she was my shoulder to cry on when my life was falling apart she was my strength when I didn't have enough myself her and myself and Rod started this little joke between us that she was our wifey. I have never ever had a best friend like her I was so shy and quiet when I first met her and boy did she help me grow my lady balls. I loved it when she would come over and crawl in the bed with me and we just lay down and take a nap or watch TV or just talk about Off the Wall stuff. Wifey I'm going to miss you so much.
