

Christina Jane Avina-Bustos

May 21, 1985 - July 31, 2023

Today, we gather here to celebrate the life of a truly remarkable woman who brought joy and love into the lives of all who knew her. Christina a name that resonates with fond memories, was a beacon of happiness, spreading her infectious laughter and warmth to everyone around her.

Born on May 21, 1985, Christina was a woman of many passions. Music held a special place in her heart, and she found solace and delight in listening to the melodies that touched her soul. From the gentle tunes that brought her tranquility to the uplifting beats that filled her with joy, music was her constant companion.

The family was at the center of Christina's world. She treasured the time spent with her loved ones, cherishing every moment of togetherness. Whether it was simple gatherings at home, adventurous outings, or heartfelt conversations, she valued every opportunity to create lasting memories with her beloved family.

Her devotion to her husband, Beto, was evident in the deep bond they shared. Their love was a source of inspiration to all who witnessed it, a love built on trust, respect, and unwavering support. Together, they created a home filled with love and laughter, a haven of warmth and understanding.

As a mother, Christina was a shining example of love and selflessness. Her children, Demian, MariElena, and Valeriana, were the light of her life, and she embraced her role as a mother with boundless dedication. Her love for her kids knew no bounds, and she nurtured them with care, guiding them on their individual journeys with wisdom and encouragement. She is also survived by her siblings, Jessica (Marco) Garcia, Andrew (Robert O Dell) Pratt, and Leena Hancock.

In addition to her love for music and family, Christina enjoyed the world of entertainment. She loved watching movies and TV shows, finding joy in the stories that transported her to different realms of imagination. Through the screen, she discovered new perspectives and cherished moments of laughter and reflection.

Christina touched the lives of those around her with her kindness and generosity. Her love extended beyond her immediate family, reaching out to friends, neighbors, and anyone in need. Her compassion and willingness to help others made a significant impact, leaving a lasting legacy of love and goodwill.

As we bid farewell to Christina, let us carry forward the lessons she taught us - to cherish our loved ones, to find joy in the simple pleasures of life, and to spread love and kindness wherever we go. Though she may no longer be with us in person, her spirit lives on in the memories we hold dear.

Christina is preceded in death by her parents Roger Pratt and Donna Hancock, and her sister Mary Pratt

May she rest in eternal peace, surrounded by the love she so freely gave to us all.
