“ It's so tough to lose someone you love, respect and admire. Christy, I miss you and wanted to light this candle in your honor. I also would like to apologize for not being there as much as I should have but my heart aches for your family every single moment since you've gone away. A yule log will burn every christmas in your honor and your legacy will never be forgotten as it lives on in your 2 well raised handsome young sons and your loving husband. Much love and deepest sympathy for all her family and close friends... Shelly Wooten
