“ You were always like a big brother of sorts to me. We would go fishing together, wrestle around, we tried to learn to roller skate together, and we would stay up til like 3 in the morning playing hold 'em. I am going to miss not having you around. PS... I am going to think of you and laugh every time my dad has spicy food and heart burn!!!

“ In loving memory to you my best friend of 35 years the Lord gave us! Im still in shock and at a loss, you never got to tell me this time when you left that you would never be back again, But I know how you missed you Dad and Mom and you are there to spend time with them now, and I'm Happy for you! You have been a great freind, you took my Family and loved them too, they will also miss you, Linda, Mom and I will have to find a new Marbles Player, and I guess you will not be able to swoop up all the deck and get burned again, but Im sure where you are that means nothing now, I guess im just saying Thanks for all the fun and many memoies we have for the rest of our lives! The death joke is over.... I won i guess, but it don't feel right at all.I Love You Buddy and will see you soon. Your Pal, Eddie
