“ I was very sorry to hear of David's passing. I remember him as a quiet man that looked like Santa with his big full beard and grumbled things at me whenever I was over at his house. I always smiled and nodded back to him. It took some getting used to but when my daughter Kaitlyn was a toddler he was very quick to take her in and was always good to her and myself, even though she was not John's biological daughter. He was always yelling at John and me to "get that baby a bottle....she's thirsty...." My fondest memory was when he woke John and I up REALLY early one morning and told us to get our shit together....we were "taking his boat out and we were going fishin." We did and the three of us spent an amazing day out on the boat! That is the day that I first learned how to fish and thanks to his patience with me....am today still an avid angler....second only to my husband. He will be missed.....

“ I remember my dear fishing buddy and I'm sorry for the loss ! The fishing memory I have is David calling his fish finder , "the lying SOB " because it wouldn't tell u what the fish were or what they were biting on. No matter how close you fished to his line , he always caught the fish while you caught nothing .
