“ i dont have facebook but tonight I got on my moms because it shows updates and somehow he came up . it makes my heart hurt because i went to school with him and he was very sweet and so shy and he would always do this thing where he would move his head to the side and his hair would flip back while he did it and I will never forget that. I hadnt seen him since then until i was 22 so it was 7 years ago and we hung out for a few hours with friends and I am just sad to find out he is gone.
