“ I miss you terribly! I have picked up the phone many times to call you only to realize you are not here. I miss walking in the door and hearing, "Well, there is my baby"! I miss putting my head on your lap or shoulder, and you would say, "It's okay, sweetie, you just rest your head; it is gonna be alright." I miss taking care of you the most, getting to pay you back for everything you have done for me and everyone around. I miss saying "Hi, Momma" and "I love you, Momma"! I miss our drives together, our rambling, going to garage sales, Arbys for your crinkle fries, and Payless. I miss your stories! You are the truest definition of a mother! You can scold me in a second, but don't let anyone else say a word, or they will see your wrath! Sweetest woman on earth, until they hurt one of your babies. You loved me as your daughter, and I love you as my Mom; however, you were not my "Mom,"; which made our relationship even sweeter. All of the things you did for me over the years, the things I would have imagined a mom to do, love, confidence, protection, you did and did not have to. I miss you every day, Momma!

I graduated on May 6th, 2023; you supported me in returning to school, rooting me on the whole time. I was so excited to walk across the stage and all the hard work it took to get here. The sacrifice of time I had with you so I could get my work done, and now you are not here. This is like a fire with no flame! I am walking on the 6th, Momma; I hope you are there; I miss you!

“ Jean you were my supervisor on my first job, an after school job @ Americana Nursing Home. I worked with you in the kitchen helping with setting up evening meals and clean up after meals were served. You were very kind to me. Always smiling, pleasant and easy to work for, and with. I met your son's Jesse Ray and Steve during that time. I was very fond of you, your then husband and your son's. I am very glad to have known you, thank you for your friendship. RIH
