“ We met Edna when mom moved in to the room with her. We grew to love her in that short time. Your mom was a very precious lady, who was always wanting to know if we were ok. Mom misses having Edna to talk to and so do we. Our deepest sympathy goes to all your family.

“ My deepest sympathy and condolences go to the Adams family and I wanted to share and hopefully bring some comfort so please read Revelation 21:3&4 when chance allows to show these conditions will not take place always. And may the God of all comfort be with your family. With Deepest Sympathy, J. Knoble

“ I had the opportunity to meet your mother in March 2003, when I came to visit my mother, Pearl Bilbrey, her roommate. I also met two of her daughters. I was quite surprised to hear that your mother had passed away. I had planned to bring her a jar of my strawberry jelly, which she was anticipating enthusiastically! I'm sorry for your loss and I know my mother will miss her. Sincerely, Bruce Bilbrey

“ To: The Family of E. Veoma Adams You will naturally be surprised to get this e-mail as, I'm not acquainted with the deceased or any of the family. I read in the paper about the death of your loved one. Often, I write the families of these dear ones, hoping it will be a comfort. At times like this, it's comforting to think about and to read about God's purpose to rescue us and our loved ones from death one-day. So the Bible refers to such ones as "sleeping". Jesus spoke of a dear deceased friend in this way at John 11:11-14. One day, these "sleeping" in death will hear Jesus voice and wake up, according to John 5:28,29. What a precious hope you have to see your loved one again! Encouragement comes also with the reminders that you are not alone in your grief and sadness. Our Loving Heavenly Father, Jehovah, promises to help! Please note Psalms 83:18; Isaiah 41:10,13 and 2Corinthians 1:3,4. It seems that one way God comfort is through the Bible. Perhaps you can find time to look up these scriptures. Particularly notice John 11:25,26; where Jesus was speaking of a resurrection, and asked the question. Do you believe this? If you would like to discuss these promises further, please e-mail us at mlttlbr@aol.com Concern Christians, The Mosley Family
