“ Grandma Leever once drove me all the way down to Tennessee so that I could see my favorite artist in concert. While driving down Grandma made the comment how beautiful the mountains were and how God must have created them. I wish I could have gotten to know Grandma better and that we all had more time with her. I'm relieved knowing that you are with God now, and I will always love you!

“ Looking back on other losses in my life, especially other grandparents and great grandparents, I have always said later, ‘I wish I knew them better,’ ‘I wish I had listened to more of their stories.’ Unfortunately, as a kid you just want to play, and as an adult life gets too busy. I honestly think my Grandmother might have known me better than I knew her.

I can only imagine that after 84 years of life how much knowledge my Grandma contained in her mind, how many wise words she could spoken, how many stories of pain and hardship or love and joy she could have recalled, how many life experiences her eyes had witnessed, how many miles her feet walked, how many textures her hands felt, and how many people she came to love.

I will make sure that one day to tell stories about you to my kids. And I will tell them how much I wish they would've met you. But I know you're looking down on us and that you're finally in peace.

Thank you for being my grandma. I will never forget you. I love you !!!!
