“ My sincere sympathy to the family on this huge lost. James was very special to me. He was a kind man. I especially remember James welcoming me to stay at his home one summer when I attended Ball State. He made his home my home. I am forever grateful to him and his family for their generosity.

“ I will always remember Jim as a wonderful, well-educated and loving man who cared for others before himself as evidenced by his participation in multiple non-profit organizations. Knowing his early beginnings in Arkansas, one can admire his achievements and goals - what was good for all people everywhere. He was well versed in current affairs and could communicate based on facts, so it was a joy to converse with him. I can only aspire to his positive outlook on life and his good will for humankind. I will miss Jim.
