“ I can't believe it's been almost 4 1/2 years since we lost you. My heart is still broken...I know we had recently reconnected before your passing, but not 1 of my teenage memories doesn't have you in it...I think of you all the time and wish you were still with all of us who truly loved and cherished you...you were the brother I never had...been thinking about you a lot lately...

“ He became like family to me over the years, and was a good uncle to my daughter. He and his wife Erin went out of their way one Christmas and got Christmas for my kids when I had nothing to give them. That's family. He was good to my daughter and tried to be there for her if she needed him. My heart hurts for everyone's loss of a great mind and heart.

This is the last photo I have with Jason, taken just a few short months ago. He was a friend and a brother to me, one of the most brilliant minds I've ever known, and he has left a void in my heart. Rest in peace brother.

I was so saddened to hear of Jason's passing. I only knew Him for a few years an saw Him last at Horror Hound Weekend. He was a really good friend to Me an I always enjoyed His company. One of the kindest most real people I've ever had the pleasure to call a friend. My deepest condolences and prayers for His Family during this time. There will always be an empty space in my heart an life with His passing. Love and R.I.P. Xo Raven:> ♡ ☆

These are our last few precious moments and my prayer. I love my grandchildren endlessly and will forever be here for them.

25June2016 6:30 a.m. Took 3 sausage gravy breakfasts over to 2204 and Jason answered the door, handed him the breakfasts. He had on a blue bandana tied to head and blue jeans and was barefoot, he thanked me for breakfast. I walked to my car and Erin ran out to the porch and yelled, Thanks Mom...see ya later. Later on *that night Jason and Erin came over and while here I gave them a zucchini out of my garden and Erin pulled some radishes. I asked Jason who was driving and had his arm hanging out the window if he liked radishes, he said "I love radishes, mom. My heart sank with complete joy. He had called me "MOM". I walked Erin to the passenger side of the Alvalanche and said to the both. "I would really like a BBQ and to get this family back in place, Jason said "So would I'. He seemed happy and was smiling. She also. I know when I lost Elisha I went back to every second I had with her In wanting to keep the precious memories. These are the very last days we had that I will keep in memory. A day later it is like the entire world turned upside down and our world crashed. I LOVE Radishes, Mom.

My Prayer...

Life is not measured in items, it is measured in moments. Thankful moments that time can not purchase. Realizing long long ago when Elisha died our children are loaned precious gifts which at any time can be taken back. Jason and Elisha had the same Birthdays, August 15th and they mutually had family who loved them endlessly. At 60 years today i entered this world I was not wanted, I was the issue of medical problems to mother having a brain tumour. I have had to cut my own path, seeing destruction along the path. Opinions of people who where best to keep the mouth shut rather than hurt others along the way. Decesions not thought out, people being mean. Marriage wasn't easy for me having family members interfere so i promised myself i would not do that with my girls or family. That i would help whenever i could, be there whenever i could as i knew how hard it was for me as a single mom. I got opinion, i got remarks, I got judgement. I did my best and i will continue to do my best. I know the seperation of a child and a parents love. The pain of the heart being removed. The pain i am feeling for my daughter, a father, sons, and daughters, brothers, aunts, uncles, grandparents and friends. . How everyone has moved on over the years and made their families and secured a little spot of baracading their fort in seclusion of not letting anyone in. How i have missed my grandchildren and someday they will know how grandma wasn't ignoring them nor absorb the hurt in her heart at a distance. How i am praying for recovery, for this family to heal. How Jason I will miss you but promise to do all i can to let your children know what a loving, kind human God gave them as a father. They knew you loved them and its going to be alot for them to absorb. It is alot for us as adults to absorb and take in of your tragic departure. There will be unanswered questions, speculatio and judgements as there has always been but Lord I am asking for a healing and recovery for this family That all who shared in the joy of knowing Jason would know he would never exclude anyone for any reason, and he shared his children without resentment or malace.; He loved you Savannah, Noah and Abby. He loved his grandbabies and he loved Erin. We all are going through painfully difficult times...I am asking for restoration, and prayer in recovery. Thank you Lord.

We will miss you, Jason. Love, Mom.
