“ This Is a sad time, for all the knew Jeremy, his life was ended to soon, as I spoke with his brother he brought to my attention, that 14 is too young to be middle aged... As we walk through life unexpected things are bound to happen, what breaks my heart is that Jeremy was much to young to leave us. I have known Jeremy and his family my entire, I have lost one of my own. My heart goes out to Sharon, one of the strongest people I have ever known, Jason, Jake, and Josh, you all are in my prayers... Courage "Until the day of his death, no man can be sure of his courage" Jean Anouilh, Becket He was a being in search of his destiny, And with abundant virtues and dignities, He filled his days with endeavors of selfless devotion. A sage with a love for mankind, He cared for the needy with reverence. Though the sorrow we feel is deep, We must not share in his suffering, but Triumph over his death by committing our Hearts, our bosoms, and our most visceral spirits To profound purpose. Yes, stand tall, thy men of courage, For a leader amongst us has fallen. With gallant humanism, and valiant resolve, He leaves Our mortal plains and hills of despair To ascend his mountain peaks of glory. With his inspirations of vitality and hope, Everything was beautiful and good. We lament his short life, yet find comfort that His mortal being was but "a fleeting gleam" Between two eternity's of tranquil salvation; Be comforted; for now, His soul is at rest, Cradled in peace. Rest In Peace my Friend, and may god be with your family. Jason L. Castor
