“ This man I considered my uncle John. He has been in my life since before I was born. He made me laugh he scared the men away sometimes. But he would always do anything in the world for me if I needed it. Uncle John has crashed on my couch and he's been around my mom and my dad for many many years. There is so many memories with this man. From going to the glass festival to see the art of his family did. To just drinking with him and just listening to him till stories. Uncle John will be missed But he would always do anything in the world for me if I needed it. Uncle John has crashed on my couch and he's been around my mom and my dad for many many years.
