“ Joyce was one of my dearest friends in Colorado. We worked together, ran around together and her sons were like nephews to me. When my Youngest son was born and had to be in a incubator she took off work for 2 weeks to be in Denver with me, when he was ready to go home it was Joyce that took me to get him. I spoke to her in November before she passed away, I had no idea she was gone until a year later, I accidently found this web site with her obituary today. A lesson to be learned keep in touch of family members of those you love so you are not as distraught as I am today.
