Thank you, Dad, because I am able to say I had the perfect father. I hope I paid attention well enough to remember everything you taught me. Most of whom I have become can be attributed to your timeless lessons-lessons instilled in me and passed on to future generations: live wholly, protect fully, and love entirely. Children who will never say your name will be great because of the person you were. www.loosecares.com.

“ As a 29-year veteran of the Anderson Police Department, I was honored to have been under the tutelage of Kent as a young officer. Kent is the subject of many a fond story of humility, and how you treat those whom you serve with both dignity and grace. I am quite proud to have both served and learned from the best.

“ I never worked with Kent but certainly knew him. He was a good officer. He worked 3rd shift for many years and often joked that he wouldn't know how to treat people if he worked days-. You treat the Public different on 3rd shift. Other officers will know what I mean-- lol. He will be missed R I P.
