“ The memories with Kurt and stitched over many decades. Our intertwined families spent countless wonderful times together, times that are still fresh in my 61 year old memory. From childhood, I can remember always admiring Kurt. From trips to my family's farm to the Indy 500, to his marriage and raising a family, and through his law enforcement career, where he was instrumental in guiding me back onto a more civilized path.

Kurt was nobody's fool and blazed his own path. He was tough as nails (even in childhood), and never ceded to anyone, except one person - His mother, Aunt Sheila Foust. He revered her wholeheartedly, and was always respectfully, fearfully, and lovingly putty in her hands. He had a heart of gold for his family and friends. Alliances were quickly formed and solidified with loyalty.

Even though we drifted apart over the last few years, I'll always carry a love and respect for the tame wild man with a heart of gold, of whom I'm proud to call my cousin.

Kurt was like a brother to me, so much so, that we called each other 'Brother' and whenever we parted we said "I love you Brother". My four children called him "Uncle Kurt" because of this. We did a lot together, helping each other with our house repairs etc., visiting, working, and working on Emmaus Walks. We were always there for each other when we had a family crisis or work. He was the first officer on the scene when my patrol car was hit 3X by shots and was there to calm me down. He was very good at calming situations. I responded to him when he was in crisis more than once after he retired and so did others. He was loved by his brothers and sisters in law enforcement. I Love you Brother RIHP 💙❤️ you are with your Loving Lord and Savior.
