“ To Jeff & family, Larry, Leah, Virginia, and my 3 angels Brittany, Cortney, and Ashley: I know I had already come to express my sympathy and condolences but I truly wanted to also convey to you all how blessed I feel to have gotten to be friends with Lara again and how glad I am that I had a chance to be there a few times to lend a hand when you needed it. I think back to some of our conversations we had and some of the phone calls and pep talks we both shared and she most assuredly had the light of god inside her. She fought her illness with so much grace and courage it would bring me to tears when I would think of her. She was and will always be a shining example of courage, hope, love, strength, and forgiveness. She loved her children and her family so much. Jeff, she loved you like I had never seen a love. She mentioned to me during one conversation what a god-send she felt you had been and I truly believe it. I love you all and you are in my thoughts and prayers everyday.

“ Mr. & Mrs. Corya: My heart pours out to you. I am so saddened by this and can only imagine how painful your loss must be. I went to school with Lara, K-12. We were in cheerleading and guard together. She was such a strong, confident, & outgoing person. My third little girl was born into this world the very day that Lara left us. I lost my second little girl at six months of pregnancy and can relate to the pain of being helpless to save your daughter from an illness. I first heard of Lara's illness from my mother, Sandy Jones, who worked at JCPenney in Anderson the same time Lara worked at their salon. The loss of Lara makes me realize, even more, how very fortunate I am for all that I have been blessed with. You and your family are in my thoughts and prayers. Tammy

“ When the enemy death strikes, your grief can be great even though you have faith. 1 Cor. 15:26 When Jesus' friend Lazarus died he was moved to tears. Later Jesus resurrected Lazarus, as well as a 12 year old girl & a widow's son. John 11:11-44; Luke 8:40-56, 7:11-17 This was to show what he will do when God's kingdom blessings soon come to the earth. Rev. 21:3,4; Isaiah 25:8, 33:24 In the meantime the God of all comfort can sustain all who mourn. Psalm 55:22; Isaiah 61:2 Much sympathy

“ Mr.&Mrs.Corya I went to Beauty School with Lara. I was much older than she was but really enjoyed her very much. She was a very uplifting young woman, full of happiness and spirt! What a great hairstylist she was! I did not know she was ill and just read it in the paper this afternoon. I am so sorry for your loss, and for her children. She always spoke so fondly of you and her girls. You are in my prayers.

“ Jeff, It's so hard to know what to do to bring you comfort and ease your pain. Even though you and Lara only had five short years together they were full of love and happiness, and you have your beautiful little boy, Josh. She is at peace now and I know she will be watching over you and Josh. Your Friend, Joy

“ Mom, I dont really know where I should start. I have so much to say. First off, I cannot believe its been 6 years. Sometimes I still feel like your here...and i wish more than anything that you were. I wish you could meet Kayden and Carter..you would absolutely adore them both and they would LOVE you more than anything! I really need your help and I know your probably looking down from heaven at me crying wishing you could be here and help me through all of this. Im really struggling. My boys are the only thing getting me through this roller coaster they call life. Grandma and Grandpa I know still ache so much from losing you. The whole family does..your friends do. You really have no idea how many lives you touched and how much we all love you!!!!i love you and i just ask that you watch over us!

“ I am so sorry it has taken me so long to write something. I am not even sure what to say because there is so much I did not ever get to say to you Lara. I am so sorry I was not there for you all of those years and I am so sorry that we lost touch. It broke my heart to hear you were so sick. I tried to call and write but never heard back and I could never figure out why. You were my best friend and like my little sister for so many years. I have only the fondest memories of you and your mom and dad who were like my second parents. I pray for them and all of your children everyday. I always say an extra special prayer for your children because I can only imagine how much they miss you. I know you had to be such a wonderful mom and so much fun to have as a mom. You and your Grandma Corya were the ones that started me going to church. You led a great example for me. You know I talk to you sometimes and pray for God to relay a message to you that I am thinking of you. You will always be in my heart and I miss you so much. I am just sorry I never got the chance to let you know what a huge part of my life you and your family was to me. I was going to write your mom and dad when I heard Brittany had the baby, but I was just not sure how they would take it or if they would even remember me. I hope someday I can meet your children to see a part of you again. If any of the children ever want to talk to me, please contact me. I have a lot of funny stories to tell about me and your mother growing up together. I really miss having a best friend to talk to and I know I will see you again soon one day. Love, Lori
