Yes - mom said on her last day if Heaven is where I am going- Yes I am ready to go. Mom's last two weeks on Earth - it was interesting, she even helped two homeless people. One woman, freshly out of prison approached mom for a ride to find shelter and mom sent me a picture of her license and drove the woman to shelter. God gave her strength to call me to make sure I take a 2nd homeless woman to pay her cellphone bill so the 74 year old woman would have a phone to call for help when she would need to. Mom finished the race. I can see and hear the cheering as she crossed the finish line.

Thank you God for our mother. She was amazing. She did not know it was her last time on earth I think it caught her by surprise but that's OK because she was in the kingdom of God running the race. Her last words were "I know you all love me"
