“ Mallory was one of the closest friends I've ever had. She was crude but clever, sweet and fiery, and she knew my secrets like so few people ever did. When we got together our jokes and laughs were insatiable. I loved her. We spoke nearly every day for so many years that it's hard to find jokes to laugh at. I want to share the ridiculous memes with her. I just can't fathom spending the rest of my life without being able to talk to her again. I miss you Mal.

“ Mallory had such an impact on my life. Where do I even begin?

She was radiant, bold, and without a doubt one of the best buddies a person could ask for. Mal was always eager to help others, would make you laugh so hard it hurt, and god help you if you crossed her or someone she loved. There never really was a dull moment in life if Mal could do anything about it. With her absence comes a deep and troubling silence...I believe that any of her friends know exactly what I mean. However, she left me and so many others with years and years of irreplaceable memories that we can still come together and laugh over every day. That is something truly special and speaks volumes more than anything I could write.

Being her friend was a blessing. As much as it hurts now, I wouldn't take it back for anything. Take it easy, Mal.

“ It's hard to find the words Mal was such a gift to us. She had a huge heart and she cared deeply for those she loved. Her humour is what I will remember and miss the most.

“ Mallory was my friend. She made me laugh until I cried. She loved to laugh and to make other people laugh. That was what was so special about her: Her heart was full of gold. She showed grace and kindness to me, and to all of us. She was a blessing to have in my life. I am thankful for everything.
Rest well, Mal. I miss you so much.

“ Where to begin? She was funny, caring, and very blunt. Went out of her way a lot to make people laugh or know when they were wrong. One time she filled the donation center on Subeta with yellow snowballs I think there was 3k of them lol. She also loved minions on Subeta, had a very big gallery of all of the ones out and her very favorite one was Catbug. So very sad to see her go but so very glad Jeheace was there the last 3 years to make her so very happy.
