“ My favorite memories were the summer weekends we spent at the lakes. She was as sweet as she was sour. Sleepovers always included whatever disney movie we wanted to watch even if it was Wild Hearts Can't be Broken for the 100th time and a breakfast packed with sugar. She always added more syrup on the waffles or extra sugar on the frosted flakes because thats how she liked it. She would put her makeup she finished with under the sink for us girls to play in. My affinity for tiny things likely started with the Avon lipstick samples from her. Her love language was gift giving and also sharing every thought and opinion that crossed her mind. The Lord did not bless her with a filter. She loved us fiercely in the best ways she could. She had the best daughters. I am forever thankful she had my mom. I hope she has eternal peace.

“ Grandma Mona was a force to be reckoned with. She raised some really stong, beautiful, resilient daughters. I'm praying for you all and love you all so very much.
