“ Mammaw, for some reason it's nearly a decade later and I'm just now coming across this. I thought of you today, and realized I wasn't able to say goodbye in person, nor at your funeral. But you came to me in a dream after you passed away to give me one last hug and a chance to say goodbye. This world was blessed to have had you in it for 80 years. You always told me that if anyone was mean to me you'd beat them up, even though you couldn't walk all that well. You were tough, brave, sweet and will forever be my angel. You took me in after my mom died and for that I will be forever grateful. You were the glue that held the family together, and always had a way of bringing us all together for the holidays. I bet you're up there singing and dancing in heaven doing what you love right next to papaw and the rest of the family. I love you and miss you more than words. ❤️

“ Mamaw, I hope you have peace now and are free from all your aches and pains. I loved being your Libra Girl and watching you adore your grandbabies. If you had to go, I'm glad you went peacefully in your sleep and did not have to suffer, I'm sad I didn't have the chance to tell you goodbye. Keep an eye on us all from heaven and give papaw a kiss from me. Love you! KJ

“ I will miss you so much!!! You always had a way of saying things that made me laugh. I will truly miss our conversations and you were always a good listener. I will never forget the way you loved babies and how concerned you were for the little ones. I remember the times you would ask me to rub your back. May you rest in peace and never hurt again.
