“ The hours we spent playing together at Grandma Akers' house on Fletcher Street are still a vivid memory for me. Then later we hung out in high school and had so many good times together. Pam had been on my mind so often lately and her passing breaks my heart. We were cousins, but the closest thing I had like a sister when we were kids. Rest peacefully, Pam.

“ I worked with Pam and became good friends starting at Robinson. When we Worked at Erskine together as reading teachers, she became ill. We had so so much fun together and talked about all kinds of things. I enjoyed going out with her occasionally and out times together. Also my husband and I met up with her at the Lapel Village Fair at Woodys and he had her out dancing and she had a ball! She always talked about that! I saw Pam last at Panera Bread a few months ago and she recognized me and we sat together and had lunch. She was a good lady.....loved her son Nick with a her heart and wanted the best for him.... and family....she will be missed. God bless.

I think way back when I was young and Pam was in the body cast, she had us using Aunt Marilyn's knitting needles to put up her back between the cast to scratch her itches. Glad she can finally be at peace.
