“ I will always remember your laugh and how easily you shared it with others. We spent so many hours talking about our kids and our husbands as well as solving the problems of the world. I shall miss our phone conversations that always lasted well over an hour. Your Mom was so proud of you kids and couldn't wait to share your latest accomplishments. Always know she will continue to be close and will now become your guardian Angel. Vicky

“ You mom was one of the most intelligent and witty people I ever met. We would have many deep conversations at work covering everything from literature to politics. She always had insightful perspectives. She and I shared a love for all things Norman Rockwell and she would leave his works on my FB wall almost daily. She will be sorely missed.
