“ Not a day goes by that i don't think of you, Daddy. I still cry a little every time i think of you. You are 1 in a million and im truely blessed to have had you as my dad. You were with me when i took my first breath and i was with you when you took your last. We will always have that very personal connection. I love and miss you. See you again my sweet favorite Daddy.

“ Uncle Dick was the first person to inspire me as a child. I remember going to his trailer and seeing him do things that seemed impossible. I was very impressed as a child with a “disability”. My uncle Dick do anything he wanted and I learned not to let me visual impairment stop me. I am very sorry that we lost touch as I grew up and moved away but Uncle Dick still inspires me. He was the hero of many of my childhood dreams and I am thrilled to know that I will see him again in heaven. I love you, Uncle Dick. Chris

“ I will miss you Dick. Your smile lit up the room, and I loved the way you praised God , .The way you would lift your hands when we had the praise and worship .You was my biggest fan, you always wanted me to sing. I love you Dick .I can just see you with your new leg running all over Heave and singing with the angels . I am glad you were my friend. I will miss you and I love you.

“ The neighborhood will not be the same without you. I remember the first day we met Dick. We had just purchased our house and road our motorcycles with our friends to the house. Here came Dick to investigate what we were doing and let us know the house had been sold. Little did he know we were the owners. The first time I walked out on the porch there sit Dick and he scared the stuff out of me. He looked at me and laughed as I screamed not knowing he was there. Dick said, "Sorry I scared you. Do you mind if I sit on the porch out of the heat?" We never knew from that day forward when we opened the door if he would be there.

Until we meet again in the heavenly neighborhood my friend.

Much Love, Thoughts, & Prayers
