“ When Job lost his entire family, his friends showed up and sat quietly with him for days. I want to be that friend. Please know that I am here for you in anyway possible. I can only imagine what you are experiencing. May God cast his arms around you and Sage and comfort you in your time of loss of your brother. May you find his warm embrace filled with peace. You are loved so very much. With a Heartfelt sorrow, Sharon Jukes

“ Halo Thank you for receiving me. You...are the only ...you! I woke up asking God "how do I know when prayers are answered"? and in this silence i heard the angelic voice say. "You will know the answer as you see with New eyes and experience peace which passes all understanding". I rose up out of bed and sprang to the window to see billions of Marvelous, Glittering, SNOWFLAKES flying like Angels everywhere! "Sparkling radiant peace upon the earth".....All was calm. All Is bright! OMG! I realized. Although we are physically separate, I am always with you.... still. Divine Love & HOly Kisses,

“ *Marvin, Ann, & Tracey. Words can't express my heartfelt sorrow at hearing about Steve's passing. In many ways, he was my best friend throughout high school and the hours we spent together hold joy-filled memories which shall forever be in my heart. Steve helped form many good things in me that I've carried with me in my life all of these years. I will be forever grateful that God allowed our paths to be so intertwined during such a formative period of my life. I am a better man because he was my best friend during that time. I wish I could be there to share the sadness and the pain that this event surely brings to your family, but I can't. Know that my deepest thoughts and prayers are with you in this time of sorrow and sadness. Steve was a special man who I was deeply blessed to know. I am forever honored to call him my close friend.
