“ Bran, Kristin, Drew & Family,

My friend Terry's life was indeed "A life well-lived." I met Terry when Brandon and my son Jared were 5 yrs. old and teammates at T-ball games. Terry and I sat on bleachers during practice, while Kristin and my youngest son, Roy played under the bleachers below us with his "bug jar" filled with "plastic bugs." We didn't notice the dust under there till our little ones came out wearing their share of it. Terry laughed, and I thought "Oh Gee," then laughed with her. Brandon's teammates dubbed him, "Fireball McFarland," he was an impressive young pitcher.

Terry has been my good listening friend throughout the years, via e-mail, letters, (through US Postal Service), and telephone calls. I will miss answering the phone and hearing her say, "Hi!" (This is my first post, I know shes smiling about this; she did try to get me on facebook.)

She celebrated my goodtimes in life and cheered and encouraged me with just the right word or saying when things were down, and I was too serious. I feel "Blessed" in this life to have been included as a part of the large circle of friends whose lives were enriched by knowing Terry.

“ My memories of Terry are from when we were in grade school and living just a few doors down from each other in Anderson, Indiana. We enjoyed many wonderful memories from talking for hours after school, watching Dark shadows, talking about the Beatles as well as Davy Jones, walking to the store to buy a Tab and Coke while singing Peter, Paul and Mary songs. Terry had a sweet spirit who made everyone feel special. Although we grew apart over the years, I am grateful to have reconnected with her over the past few years. I will forever be grateful and thankful to have called her friend. Prayers continue for all the family during this difficult time.

“ Bran, I'm so sorry to hear of this deep loss. Please know that you and all the family are in my prayers and heart. Terry and I became fast friends in Junior High and early High School. At school we were inseparable; she truly was an angel in every way. Her face was always lit up like a kid at Christmas! She found joy in all she did, which was mostly for others. Bran, I know this is a particularly tough time for you with all you are going through. My prayer is that you return to your good health soon, and you find God's strength to endure this tragedy. Love to you and your family.

“ I have so many wonderful memories of my dear friend Terry, starting when we met in Jr. High. Bunk mates at choral camp, belting out "You're So Vain" along with Carly Simon on our double dates. Terry always had a smile on her face and was kind to everyone. My prayers to Bran and the family. Carol (Lash) Hanna
