“ I will miss Tom, a close family friend and distant cousin. My fondest memories of Tom have to do with going to his house each Christmas Eve with my parents and sister to have dinner, exchange gifts and talk. In the 39 years since I was born, I think I missed only three or four Christmas Eves with Tom and Faye. I'm glad I got to see Tom just a few days before he died, although I hated to see him suffer. He was an honest and good man -- and an exceptional friend to my father -- and we loved him. God bless you, Tom. Love, Kathleen

“ Tom was my dad's good friend, like a surrogate father, perhaps. We always went to his home on Christmas Eve. He was a good man, and he could be counted on to tell you how he saw things. He knew my extended family, those living, and those who had died prior to my birth. He had a great laugh and enjoyed a good joke. He always offered us Coke and chocolate on Christmas Eve. Tom will be missed by me and my family, especially on Christmas Eve. Diana Prescott
