“ Tom was a character, and I loved being around him (although it was not nearly often enough). He always made me laugh. I knew him to be a fierce family man, and as the stories are told from over the span of his life, an avid horseman, fisherman, and hunter. More importantly, he had a very loving and special relationship with my daughter, Chloe. He made her wedding very memorable for her and especially for me to have seen him walk with her. You are missed already by so many. Rest in peace.
