“ I am one of Tim's cousins. My dad was Garold Fowler. I knew Tim as Timmy and had only met him once, for a few days when my family drove from Seattle to Clinton, IN to visit Grandma and Grandpa Fowler. This would have been about 1968 or so. Timmy and Ronny took my brother and me under their wings and gave us a tour of the town. I remember we found a bat on a wall and Timmy or Ronny, I can't remember which, was going to hit it with a baseball bat, but after a few minutes, he decided not to do it. Funny how we remember the oddest things. At any rate, I am sorry to hear of Timmy's passing, he helped me have a lot of fun, all those years ago. I know we will meet again. My prayers and condolences go out to his family.

“ The day has come~ All be it far too soon, I know, to surrender unto God this one that you loved so. No amount of words, no matter how be they wise, can take away the pain when someone so special dies. Grief is such a personal thing we each accept in our own way. My heart can only guess what yours feels today. I am sorry for your sorrow. But, I do understand your tears. For, we all suffer parting if we've lived enough y ears. Try to remember, if you can, that, someday, you will again meet they truly are waiting there when we join them at Jesus' feet. I pray, in time, the tears will pass and a smile takes their place; as your heart begins to heal, by God's amazing Grace. Spanky you were a good friend, Your heart was gold, And you will be truely missed..

“ A man is measured by the things he does in life, the sacrafices he makes for his children, and the joy he brings to his family that surrounds him. Spanky always put his kids and his family first. Spanky IS and always will be a first class man. R.I.P. Tim Stevenson Sr. - know that you will be missed by many, but forgot by none.
