“ I am out of town, but please know my heart is with you. It is difficult to explain to anyone in a way that they would understand the love between our families. There are some things that never need to be said, they are just felt. You can be apart for years, and see one another, and pick up exactly where you left off. That is the kind of love we share.

Be at peace, as we know we will all be together again.
