“ Vicki, her sisters and I are cousins. We had such great times together growing up. I was blessed to have Vicki in my life. Here are some of the comments from my Hometeam when I told them about Vicki. It sounds like Vicki and the Lord had some great times together for Him to convince her to be born again. Within this sadness is a very sweet story and testimony. God heard the prayers and released her to join Him. God is so compassionate to work in lives of those who struggle to believe, when He knows their days are drawing to a close. As much as Heaven is our goal, it sure is hard for the people left behind to adapt without their precious loved ones. I am more than excited that God uses everyone according to His purpose. Vicki's life is a beautiful extension of God. I'm so glad that we were able to get together last summer and visit. Love, -
