“ Terry and family,, I'm sorry for your lose,,Wanda was a beautiful lady.. I'm so glad that she was a member of my family even if I only got into the family by marriage. I remember when Brenda and my Debbie were babies,,Wanda, Pat, and I would take them for walks in the evenings. God Bless your family.

“ Wanda was a lady who really could light up a room when she walked in. We both are really going to miss her warm hugs, which she gave to everyone she met. Jim and Cheryl Day

“ Terry, I am going to miss that wife of yours. She made me laugh. I enjoyed her company and like so many others, will miss her. Jim and I are thinking of you. Wanda is a great inspiration of what it means to keep family first in our lives.

“ To the Ancil Family, Even though I only had an opportunity of meeting Wanda and Terry oncethrough Kevin and Amy Jones and prayfully I will be able to connect with Terry and his family again it was during that visit that I had the opportunity to be in the presence of such a loving couple. But one of the most encouraging time of the visit is our time in prayer and all of us confirming and reaffirming our faith in Christ. The hope that we can have in time of bereavement is to know that Wanda is at peace in the presence of the Lord. Family know that in the days ahead God has giving to you the "comforter" that will help you in the darkest moments when you are missing and longing for Wanda. If you will allow, the "comforter" can encourage you during that time, to know that "Weeping may endure for a night but Joy will come in the morning" Keep alive the legacy of Wanda's life and her love for family.
