“ She was a special woman and mother to the entire family. I was always amazed how she cooked for the whole family, who were always showing up and they were always welcome. Whenever I was IN Anderson, I spent more time at Pop's than anywhere else because that's where the action was. I will be forever grateful for the special attention and care she gave to me during those visits. It is hard to imagine that only Jig and Sandy are left. It was quite a family and I love being part of it! I miss those days very much. Instead of being at peace, she is already cooking in her bare feet for all those who went before her! Sincerest condolences to the children and grandchildren left behind, and though all devoted, a very special shout out to Linnie for the years of care she gave her mother. God bless all of us that loved her!

“ My heart goes out to all of those Wanda left behind. Saying good bye to parents is something we know we will have to do but it is never easy. I am sorry for your loss. We spent many weekends with this loving, fun family when I was a child. Perl Parkhurst, her brother, was my father. It was always a great fun filled time and the house was always packed with relatives. Wanda, Punk as she was called back in those days, stayed up late with everyone playing cards but had the stove singing in the mornings making breakfast. I still can taste her homemade gravy. You have fond, fun filled memories of her many years with you. When the pain subsides, you will be able to relive them and laugh many many times. Take care of each other. So sorry.
